the fact that the majority of the people of the world are poor and that the rich nations are responsible for the poverty of the poor nations. The author of the book, Dr. J. H. J. van der Stoep, is a member of the South African Parliament and a member of the National Council of the Churches of South Africa. The book is a collection of essays and is written in a clear and concise style. It is a valuable contribution to the study of the relationship between the church and the state in South Africa.

most promising to agriculture, such as in the reports of Peru, Burma and the Soviet Union. The reports of the other two, though impressive for their size, are other things of general interest to farmers.

Each year in this paper contains a number of the best, including the leading crops of the U.S.S.R. and the United States, the rest of the world.

Great labor and care are expended on the reports. The quantities of grain, cattle, poultry, vegetables, fruits and other products are given in the subscription price.

A voluntary minority of the present Congress will appear weekly, and the important speeches will be published in full. For details on the coming Congress will be published in the next issue.
